LA Art Show News

As summer comes to a close, we're pleased to share a few new more details about programming for the upcoming LA Art Show, February 10 to 15, 2021. We hope all our friends around the world are safe and well.

2021 Modern + Contemporary Gallery Preview: Arcadia Contemporary

We're thrilled to welcome Arcadia Contemporary as a returning exhibitor in our Modern + Contemporary section next year! For the 2021 LA Art Show, Arcadia plans to present three one-person exhibitions, featuring the work of British figurative painter Mary Jane Ansell, Canadian landscape artist Renato Muccillo and American figurative painter Julio Reyes.

"The Los Angeles Art Show is the one art fair we can rely on to produce results (i.e. sales). Year after year, we sell works to collectors who have made this event a yearly, "must attend," and they return to the fair...to buy. In addition, as attendance seems to increase year by year, we meet and work with new collectors who become steady, art-centric clients. For us, it's the perfect way to kick off the year," said Steven Diamant, gallery director.

Arcadia Contemporary features only contemporary, representational painting and drawing. Located on Colorado Boulevard in Old Town Pasadena, the gallery was founded in 2001 in Soho, New York, and relocated to the west coast in 2016.

2021 Modern + Contemporary Gallery Preview: Rebecca Hossack Art Gallery

The LA Art Show is delighted to welcome returning exhibitor Rebecca Hossack Art Gallery next year. For the 2021 fair, Rebecca Hossack will present works from Australian artists, as well as new works from Dutch-born artist, Carla Kranendonk.

Marking Out the Territory: Six Australian Printmakers, is an exciting exhibition which brings together the works of leading practitioners of Western and Indigenous traditions of Australian art.

Across a broad range of techniques and styles, the selected artists all share a common engagement with the land as a site of significant meaning. Through their image making, they investigate the relationship between nature and man, shedding light on this tension in arresting and unexpected ways.

Featured artists are G.W. Bot, David Frazer, Herthe Kluge-Pott, Janice Murray, Banduk Marika and Dennis Nona. All six artists have works in Australia's state and national galleries as well as in important public, corporate and private collections in American, Europe and the U.K.

Also coming up at the 2021 LA Art Show, Rebecca Hossack Art Gallery will feature selected mixed media paintings by Dutch-born artist Carla Kranendonk. Informed by her travels to West Africa, Kranendonk's works combine vivid brushwork with hand-embroidered paper collage and photographic elements. The works represent a travelogue of collected images and memories, reinforced by the frequent use of photographs of the artist and her family members. Using disparate textile patterns and screen-printed textures, Kranendonk's large scale works are playful in their manipulation of perspective.

DiverseArtLA 2021 Highlights Women Artists...
And Throwback to the Past!

DiverseArtLA will return in 2021 with a program of film / video art, performance and event documentation focusing on the work of women artists at museums and institutions from around the world. We look forward to showcasing a range of artistic visions, highlighting collaboration among visual artists, curators and institutions experimenting in the arts and technology. Stay tuned for news and announcements coming up...

To capture the unique energy of previous programs, here's a throwback to DiverseArtLA 2019, featuring artist Dorian Wood and his performance piece, Nodriissx/Narcissx curated by Marisa Caichiolo.

Artist Dorian Wood seeks to glorify both the sanctity and irreverence of intimacy. As a non-binary person of color and an autodidact without a formal college education, Wood revels in challenging the division between artist and viewer..

In his 2019 featured performance “Nodriissx/Narcissx,” the artist sat in a chair in the center of a darkened room, covered from head to toe in a cloth, with a slit exposing their left breast. Attendees were invited to kneel in front of the artist and suckle on the artist’s breast. During the performance installation, the artist vocalized to a 4-channel soundscape created solely by artist's voice, recorded on a microphone Wood wore throughout the piece.

Wood's work has been showcased in concert halls and performance spaces around the world, including The Broad (Los Angeles), LACMA (Los Angeles), The Stone (NYC), MASS Gallery (Austin), Kulturhuset (Stockholm) and Hebbel am Ufer (Berlin). As a musician, Wood has released more than a dozen recordings.
