FASHION Premieres at the LA Art Show

Presenting Sue Wong — Beauty, Magic, Transformation

In celebration of our 25th Anniversary, the LA Art Show introduces a special new section of the fair, FASHION. This new section reflects the important position of Los Angeles in the worlds of both art and fashion. For the premiere of FASHION, we are very pleased to present a survey of the internationally renowned award-winning designer Sue Wong in a dedicated pavilion.

The Sue Wong label was launched in 1985, and soon dominated the American Evening Market. Recognized worldwide for her signature blend of vintage and contemporary style, Wong's designs evoke the glamor of the past, accented by the flair of today. Her signature garments are characterized by exquisite fabrics and designed motifs shimmering with incandescent beads. Intricate embroideries as well as embellished layers and textures are combined to create graceful, elegant and timelessly beautiful works of wearable art. Some 70 mannequins dressed in Sue Wong gowns will be shown in the premiere of FASHION.

SUE WONG

The LA Art Show has always acknowledged the connection between art and film, featuring celebrity hosts for each edition of the fair. In the past five years, several of our hosts have been Oscar winners and nominees. Among the many Hollywood stars who have worn Sue Wong gowns are Taylor Swift, Anne Hathaway, Reba McEntire, Kim Kardashian, Jessica Biel, Minnie Driver, Kelly Osbourne, Tyra Banks, Sofia Milos and Jane Seymour. Fittingly,

FASHION will showcase a selection of at least six Sue Wong dresses that have been worn on the Red Carpet.

Stay tuned for more upcoming news on exciting programming and events to celebrate our 25th anniversary!

Art Raises Awareness and Funds for St. Jude

We're delighted St. Jude Children's Research Hospital® returns as our charity partner for the 25th Anniversary of the LA Art Show. We're always happy to share inspiring stories about St. Jude patients. This story is particularly meaningful to us because of its connection to art.

When his son Joshua was diagnosed with sickle cell disease, Memphis based artist Ephraim Urévbú channeled some of his creative energy into raising awareness about the disease, as well as raising funds for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, where Joshua has been receiving treatment since his birth.

Urévbú and his wife Sheila launched a foundation to support efforts to address sickle cell disease in the artist's native Nigeria, which has the world's largest population of people with the disorder. When the financial burdens of the travel and charitable work became overwhelming, the couple decided to focus on helping St. Jude. Although best known for treating and researching pediatric cancer, St. Jude has made it a priority to help children with sickle cell disease since the hospital's founding in 1962.

Last year, Urévbú donated an abstract painting to the St. Jude Garden Harvest fundraising event. The work, filled with symbolic references to his son's struggle with the disease and the treatment he has received, sold for $10,000. Prints are still being offered for $100 each to raise money for St. Jude.
